The Maine Election.

All the leading Democratic papers which have reached the city from points as far east as Boston, have articles preparing their readers for heavy Republican gains in Maine on Monday. The Intelligencer has a long editorial admitting that [illegible] but contending that even such a majority would be no indication of the result in November. Information from Bangor is to the effect that figures derived from the officers of all lines [illegible] passengers to Bangor, show that on the day of the [illegible] enormous [illegible] meeting nearly eight hundred and twenty-one persons, all told, arrived at that city. SCENES AND INCIDENTS.

Relief Furnished by Admiral Turner.

NEW YORK, September 12.—The steamer Rising Star, from Aspinwall, brings the following:

On the 13th of August a terrible earthquake visited the cities along the coast of Peru and Ecuador, whereby thirty-two thousand lives were lost, and property valued at three hundred millions of dollars was destroyed. A rumbling sound preceded the earthquake, and the sea was terribly agitated and flooded the land for a great distance.

Arequipa, a city of [illegible] inhabitants, passed away; scarcely a vestige was left. Only four hundred lives were lost here.

Arica, a town of [illegible] inhabitants, was also destroyed, leaving not a house standing; five hundred perished here.

The tidal waves forty feet high rolled with terrific roar on the shore, carrying ships farther on land than was ever before known. The United States steamship Fredonia capsized, all on board were lost. [illegible] wave, but was not much damaged. Several small vessels were driven ashore, and five men drowned. The town of Concepcion was also damaged by the same causes. [illegible], the Mexillones islands, Pisagua, and all the cities and towns in fact from Cape Francisco in Ecuador to the Magellan Straits, suffered more or less from the terrible visitation. It was thought at Quito that the volcano of Cotopaxi was at work, but nothing definite is stated to that effect.

Second Dispatch.

Other accounts state that an American bark laden with a cargo of guano, name unknown, was swallowed up completely in the harbor of Arica, and nothing more seen of her. Terror, hunger and desolation reign. Where Arica once was, not even a tree is left. The town of Moquegua, nine leagues from Arequipa, was destroyed. Tacna, in the same neighborhood, lost sixty houses and one hundred and fifty lives, mostly children, who were returning from schools. The town of Mejia was swept away, only twenty out of 300 inhabitants escaping. The earth has opened in several places on the plains and pampas, and water [illegible] In some places hot water is vomiting from the new chasms. All the inhabitants of [illegible] were destroyed, and twenty lives lost. Three vessels with their crews were also lost. All the nitrate works at Iquique were destroyed, as well as those in its suburbs, causing great loss. Among those killed at Iquique was the British Consul Billinghurst. The American bark Condor was lost at Mejillon, but the crew were saved. The British bark Henrietta was also lost, the crew being saved. The losses at Iquique were over two millions.

At the Chincha Islands there was first a hurricane, next an earthquake, and then the tidal wave. Several English vessels were damaged, and a Prussian bark wrecked, all small vessels. The launches, the mole and adjuncts were destroyed. Four hundred tons of silver ore and [illegible] Company, owned in London, were completely swept away at Iquique.

The towns of [illegible], Chancay, [illegible], and other smaller places, were also destroyed. The port of Las Lomas has been added to the islands in the bay of Callao by the action of the earthquake. Over [illegible] persons are without shelter and bread. Commissions are being formed. The ladies are making clothes, and the Government of Peru is straining its utmost to alleviate the distress. General Kilpatrick left for home on the 17th of August.

SAN FRANCISCO, September 12.—The steamer Idaho, from Honolulu, August 26th, has arrived. A great tidal wave was experienced through the entire group of islands, August 14, and several succeeding days the water in places rising ten to twelve feet above high tide, doing considerable damage. Earthquakes occurred on different islands, though not of sufficient force to cause the tidal phenomenon.

POLITICAL.

INDIANA.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

VALPARAISO, IND., September 12, 1868.

One of the largest Republican gatherings ever assembled in this Congressional District, was held here to-day, and was addressed by Hon. Will. Cumback, Republican candidate for Lieutenant Governor of Indiana, who was listened to with intense interest for over two hours, whilst discussing the political issues of the day and advancing many new points involved in the present campaign. The Republicans claim that the demonstration and the speech of Mr. Cumback secure to the party the county of Porter by a large majority. The procession was about three miles long, in which were two hundred wagons, and about two hundred ladies and gentlemen on horseback. Many banners and mottoes were carried in the procession. In short, everything passed off pleasantly, and may be regarded as a complete success.

[illegible] CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

Special Dispatch to the Pittsburgh Commercial.

MANSFIELD, O., September 12, 1868.

General Beatty, candidate for re-election to Congress from the Eighth District, addressed a tremendous meeting here last night. The meeting was the largest political demonstration of the season, and as enthusiastic as it was large. Previous to the speaking, the Grant Guards, to the number of nearly three hundred, paraded the streets in torch-light procession. An excellent Glee Club was on the platform, and sang several spirited campaign songs, to the great satisfaction of the audience. The General's speech related mainly to taxation and finance, but at times he broke away from the dry details and figures and indulged in strains of inspiring eloquence and biting sarcasm, which fairly carried the audience by storm, as their frequent outbursts of applause plainly indicated. His speech last night was a success and has placed him high up among the able and eloquent orators of our party in the State. He is making a splendid canvass throughout the district, and will be re-elected by at least fifteen hundred majority. Richland county will undoubtedly give him a gain of two hundred at least over the special election of last winter.

The watch fires are burning brightly, and all is well in this part of the State.

Hugh McFall, one of the first settlers of this county, and one of our most respected citizens, died here last night, aged about 80. B.

PENNSYLVANIA.

SCRANTON, PA., September 12.—[illegible] was to-day nominated for Congress by the Republican Convention of the Twelfth District.

TENNESSEE.

MEMPHIS, September 12.—The Democratic torchlight procession to-night surpassed any similar demonstration ever witnessed here. [illegible]

NASHVILLE, September 12.—Hon. H. H. [illegible], Republican elector for the State at large, opened the canvass with a highly satisfactory speech at the capitol this afternoon. [illegible]

LOUISIANA.

NEW ORLEANS, September 12.—Notwithstanding the reports of a further postponement, the Republican demonstration is in progress here. Everything is quiet and orderly thus far, [illegible] Three companies of infantry are stationed at the custom-house, and other troops are disposed of in different parts of the city. A strong body of police are also accompanying the procession. The procession was one hour passing a given spot. There were three white clubs only in the procession, numbering three hundred, all told. There was but a thin sprinkling of whites in the rest of the procession. The prominent feature of the procession was a wagon containing negro women, dressed in white, decorated with flowers, representing the States. The following are specimens of the inscriptions on the transparencies: "Tammany Hall, the Hall of Traitors;" "Remember Lincoln;" "Men enough have been murdered;" "Seymour Means Slavery;" "Remember Fort Pillow;" "No Compromise with Rebels;" "Let us have Peace." Strong delegations from neighboring parishes are participating. All the saloons were closed at an early hour, in compliance with the proclamation from the Mayor. The whites generally remained in their houses, and there were comparatively few on the streets. Considerable apprehension was felt of a disturbance this evening, and all the small fire arms on sale in retail stores were bought up to-day. There was but little music in the procession. The streets along the line were remarkably silent. The Democratic Clubs universally agreed to remain away from their club rooms and off the streets.

COLORADO.

NEW YORK, September 12.—A dispatch from the Chairman of the Democratic Central Committee of Colorado states that Mr. Belden, a Democrat, is elected a delegate to Congress from that Territory.

MASSACHUSETTS.

BOSTON, September 11.—Edwin C. Bailey, editor and proprietor of the Boston Herald, was nominated for Representative by the Democrats of the Third Massachusetts District this evening.

NEW YORK.

UNADILLA, N. Y., September 11.—At the Republican Congressional Convention held here to-day, Hon. Charles Knapp, of Delaware, was unanimously nominated for Congress from the Nineteenth District.

MAINE.

PORTLAND, ME., September 11.—The political excitement culminated last night in two grand torchlight processions, each composed of uniformed companies, with cavalry escorts. The Democrats held an out door meeting in Market square, and the Republicans a meeting in City Hall. Each was addressed by able speakers, and the enthusiasm was great on both sides, but everything was orderly. The processions passed each other on the streets without the least disturbance. A heavier vote is anticipated to-morrow than has ever been thrown in the State. The largest vote was in 1860, being Republican [illegible]; Democratic, [illegible]; straight Whig, [illegible]; scattering, 2; total [illegible].

Public Amusements.

OPERA HOUSE.—Edwin Booth closed his highly successful engagement on Saturday evening, making his farewell appearance as Richard III. He goes hence to Cincinnati.

This evening Miss Nellie Germon and Mr. Robert Johnson will commence an engagement. They have the reputation of being excellent actors, Miss Germon having made quite a hit in Cincinnati last week.

VARIETIES.—Several new faces will make their appearance at this house to-night, among whom are George E. [illegible], a great favorite, Miss Louise [illegible], Robert Nickle and Dave Wilson. A new drama, "The Path of Crime," will be presented for the first time.

MASONIC HALL.—The popular Logrenia, the conjuror, will remain another week, and continue his soirees magique at Masonic Hall, each evening, giving away one hundred presents. John Wallace, [illegible] Second avenue, drew the gold piece Saturday night. Another gold piece will be given away this evening.

PITTSBURGH THEATER.—This once popular house will be offered at Orphan's Court Sale, on Saturday, October 3d.

INTERESTING READINGS.—Rev. W. A. Evans will give a reading at the Academy of Music, on Thursday evening next, and as will be seen by the programme in another column it will be interesting. Until very recently, Mr. Evans was a member of the dramatic profession, and while so was held in high esteem as an elocutionist. He is worthy of all encouragement in his new calling, and the reading of Thursday evening should be largely attended.

LONDON, September 12.—Queen Victoria has arrived at Windsor.

The Continental Situation.

LONDON, Sunday, September 13.—It is generally considered that the events of the last fortnight have made little change in the political condition on the Continent, either to lessen or increase the chances of war. While on the one hand the press of Germany have assumed a quiet tone, and profess to be more confident of peace, on the other hand it is known that France has refused a formal demand made by Chevalier Nigra, the Italian ambassador, for the recall of French troops from Rome, and at the same time Prince Girgenti has brought to Paris the proposal of Spain to cement an alliance with France by sending 30,000 soldiers to Rome. This proposition and the approaching interview which is shortly to take place at Bayonne between Emperor Napoleon and the Queen of Spain are looked upon as foreshadowing an alliance, the object of which is to rid France of the care of the Holy See in case she should be plunged into war, so that by this means France, if without any other ally, could make Spain useful. There are rumors, too, that several fighting regiments have been recalled from Africa; that General [illegible] has been sent on a special mission to Germany, and that Prussia has determined to annex the Grand Duchy of Baden, which add to the feeling of distrust in the permanence of the existing peace. This feeling is faithfully mirrored in Paris by the depression on the Bourse and the consequent decline of rentes. In diplomatic circles here the situation is pithily summed up in these words: "No fear of war, though it may begin to-morrow."

South America.

LONDON, September 13.—Later advices have been received from Rio Janeiro. According to Brazilian reports, a detachment of Paraguayan troops left behind in Gran Chaco, on the evacuation of Humaita, were surrounded by the allied forces, and surrendered unconditionally, with twelve pieces of artillery and all their stores. The fortifications at Humaita have been razed to the ground. At last accounts the whole allied army had commenced to march to lay siege to the fortified position of Lopez, on the Tebicuary river. The fleet of iron-clads had already arrived opposite the entrenchments, and commenced a vigorous bombardment.

Reduction of the Prussian Army.

PARIS, September 13.—The Patrie, of yesterday, thinks that the report that the Prussian army is to be reduced by one hundred and fifty thousand men is false.

Napoleon at Chalons.

The Presse says on leaving the Camp at Chalons, the Emperor summoned the general officers to his presence. He then thanked them for the zeal they had shown, and said the days he had passed in camp had given him great pleasure and satisfaction.

Gone to Biarritz.

The Emperor Napoleon, Empress Eugenie and the Prince Imperial have left this city on a visit to Biarritz.

ANTWERP, September 13.—Petroleum market quiet; standard white was quoted to-day at 46 francs 75 centimes.

The time for Hon. John S. Carlisle to speak at Parkersburg, West Virginia, has been changed from the 16th to the 21st inst., his engagements in Maine preventing him from speaking at an earlier date. The Conservatives of West Virginia and Southern Ohio should go to hear this distinguished statesman.

It is said that the Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee have entered into an arrangement to colonize from Maryland a large number of voters, in the expectation of carrying certain doubtful Congressional districts and the State at the October election.

On the 23d Governor Curtin and Col. A. K. McClure will speak at Beaver, and on the 26th General D. E. Sickles and Governor Curtin at Erie.

CITY MATTERS.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION.—The Presbyterian Ministerial Association will meet in the Session Room of the First Presbyterian Church, Wood street, this afternoon at two o'clock.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR.—In the report of Judge Bond's speech which appears elsewhere where it reads "to prevent the rebels of the South, who have been wallowing like a hog in the mud and dirt of rebellion from returning to the Union," it should read from returning to rebellion.

McKeesport Matters.

Our correspondent "M," in McKeesport, furnishes us with the following items: On the 7th inst., Miss Elizabeth Whiney, of Mifflin township, appeared before Justice James H. Berry, and made an information against Alex. Bowil, charging him with being the father of her child. A warrant was issued and placed in the hands of officer Marsh, who succeeded in arresting Bowil at Irwin's Station, in Westmoreland county, and brought him back to McKeesport. There the matter was happily compromised by Bowil being joined in wedlock with Miss Whiney. After remunerating the 'Squire for his services, the happy couple went on their way rejoicing.

On Friday night an altercation occurred between a number of Irish laborers employed on the street, when officer O'Brien interfered to arrest the parties. He succeeded in catching one of them—Michael Foel—but the others made good their escape. On Saturday morning Foel was taken before the Justice, and let off upon payment of a fine of five dollars and costs.

Knights Templar—Triennial Convocation of the Grand Commandery at St. Louis—Arrival of Knights from the East.

The eastern train which arrived at the Union Depot at 8:10, Saturday morning, brought in a large number of Knights Templar, who are en route to St. Louis to attend the Triennial Convocation of the Grand Commandery of the United States. Among the number were seventy-two Sir Knights from Philadelphia, thirty from Maryland Commandery No. 1, of Baltimore, about the same number from Baltimore Commandery No. 2, and fifty from Washington City. Among those from Maryland were Dr. Yates, G. H. P., and Colonel D. Piper, Grand Tyler of the State, and Sir Knights Galt, Musselman, William E. Hanna and Dr. Lester. The delegations, accompanied by a number of Sir Knights from this city, left for Chicago at 9:15 A. M. Saturday. The Sir Knights from all parts of the country east of Chicago will assemble at that place, and will proceed thence to St. Louis in special trains.

Shooting Affray in the Fifth Ward.

Last evening a man named Joseph Sabbati was shot in the head by a companion named Kesler, on Penn street near O'Hara, in the Tenth (old Fifth) ward. It appears that Kesler, in company with some friends, had been over to some beer gardens in Birmingham yesterday and returned in an intoxicated condition. About half-past ten o'clock he came up to where Sabbati was sitting with some friends on a dry goods box in front of No. 474 Penn street, and struck Sabbati on the shoulder in an apparently friendly way, saying, "Sabbati, you called me a son of a b—h once," at the same time drawing a revolver and firing, the ball entered the head of the unfortunate man between the eyes. Several physicians were immediately summoned; the wound was probed, but at latest accounts the ball had not been taken out. The man was living at one o'clock this morning, and was in a fair way of recovering.

Kesler immediately after doing the shooting ran away and has not yet been found. It is stated that he was seen shortly after the occurrence in the saloon of the Rush house, near the depot. The police officers searched faithfully but at latest accounts had not been able to find him.

THE ETNA SHOOTING AFFRAY.

Arrest of the Supposed Perpetrator.

Coroner Clawson on Saturday arrested Ephraim Kent, Constable of Penn township, on a charge of complicity in the Etna shooting affray which occurred on Tuesday night last, and which resulted in the death of Robert C. Calhoun, of Allegheny City. Kent was arrested at his home at Verner Station, on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, and had proceeded for about a mile toward the city before anything was said of the murder. He then told the Coroner that he was at Etna that day for the purpose of collecting a bill. In the evening he was standing in front of the tavern, when Calhoun and party drove up. An altercation, it will be remembered, ensued, during which Kent, while endeavoring, as he says, to preserve the peace, was roughly handled. As soon as he was released from the grasp of his antagonists, he drew his pistol and fired toward the ground, and did not intend to shoot any one. Kent was brought to the city and locked up to await the result of the Coroner's investigation to-day. It is said that evidence will be adduced to-day which will show that Kent threatened to shoot the parties if they did not disperse. Shortly after this threat was made the fatal shot was fired. Kent says the shot fired by him was not intended for any one, but only for the purpose of frightening the parties, as a riot was at one time imminent.

LOCAL POLITICS.

The Good Work Goes Bravely On.

Enthusiastic Republican Meetings in the Twenty-third Ward, Temperanceville, Turtle Creek, South Fayette, McCandless and Snowden Townships and Westmoreland County.

Republican Ward Nominations.

The Meetings This Evening.

Republican Meeting at Hazlewood.

A mass meeting of the loyal Republicans of Hazelwood, Twenty-third ward, was held in Public School House No. 6, on the Braddock's Fields plank road, on Saturday evening.

The Great Western Band went out in a four horse wagon, in which was a large and brilliant transparency, appropriately inscribed.

George H. Anderson, Esq., presided over the meeting and a number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries were chosen.

The meeting was addressed by W. T. Haines, Esq., who held the meeting in close attention for a considerable while, ably discussing the issues of the campaign and urgently calling upon all present to cast their votes at the coming election with advantage, and the only way they could avail themselves of that advantage was by voting for Grant and Colfax.

C. W. Robb, Esq., followed in a neat speech and was loudly cheered.

The band then played some excellent music, after which a vote of thanks was tendered to the speakers. Some more music was furnished and after three rousing cheers for Grant and Colfax the meeting adjourned.

Republican Rally in Temperanceville.

A Republican rally was held in front of Ballentine's store, in Temperanceville, on Saturday evening, and notwithstanding the inclement state of the weather, it was a very large and enthusiastic gathering, many of those present being workingmen. A large delegation of the Grant and Colfax Club of Chartiers township was present, bearing torches. The Mechanics' Silver Cornet Band, of Birmingham, and the Temperanceville Glee Club were in attendance and discoursed excellent music. The meeting was organized by calling Mr. Ballentine to the chair, and appointing a number of Vice-Presidents and Secretaries.

L. P. Stone, Esq., was introduced as the speaker of the evening, and held the audience for nearly an hour and a half in a very eloquent and able speech. He reviewed the general issues involved in the canvass, compared the platforms and candidates of the two parties, discussed the financial question, and ended with a splendid eulogy on General Grant.

At the conclusion of Mr. Stone's speech, the meeting adjourned with cheers for the whole ticket.

Meeting at Turtle Creek.

An open air meeting was held at Turtle Creek on Saturday evening, which was presided over by Colonel Joseph M. Kincaid, assisted by a number of Vice Presidents and Secretaries.

Major A. M. Brown, delivered a very telling speech, and was followed by Col. Russell Errett, who occupied the balance of the evening.

Prof. Slack was present and entertained the audience with some choice songs.

Republican Meeting in South Fayette.

On Saturday evening last a large number of the citizens of Upper St. Clair and South Fayette townships assembled at the Bridgeville House, kept by G. W. Boyd. The meeting was organized by calling David Shafer, Esq., to the chair. Messrs. W. Foster, Isaac Craig, Wilson Tennet and J. Abers were selected Vice Presidents, and J. M. Conner and J. M. Boyd, Secretaries.

Thomas Howard, Esq., was first introduced, and for upwards of an hour and a quarter discussed the questions of the day with his accustomed eloquence and ability. He contrasted the Democratic party of to-day with that of the past, arguing that it had abandoned its former principles, had repudiated the memories of the past and during the preceding eight years had been and still is a sectional party, and that it is arrayed against the best interests of the country. He discussed the questions of reconstruction and of the national finances, and concluded with an eloquent appeal to his countrymen to do their whole duty in this campaign.

John S. Lambie, Esq., being next introduced, defended the Republican party against the charges preferred against it by the Democratic Convention of New York. He charged the Democratic party with instigating, aiding and abetting the rebellion, and after the war with seeking to undo and make of no effect the results of that war. It is a sectional party. Mr. Lambie spoke for an hour, and after the conclusion of his speech a vote of thanks was tendered the speakers.

Mr. Boyd, at whose house this meeting was held, in marked contrast with the course usually pursued, closed his bar, and the meeting passed off in a most orderly manner.

Mass Meeting in Library.

A fine mass meeting of the Republican voters of Snowden township was held in the village of Library, Saturday evening.

'Squire Steel was elected President, with a large list of Vice Presidents and Secretaries.

Speeches were made by H. H. McCormick, Esq., and Thomas J. R. Moorhead. The speakers discussed in an able manner the issues of the campaign, and their speeches were listened to attentively.

Meeting in McCandless Township.

A mass meeting which was well attended was held in the School House in McCandless township, Friday evening. The meeting was addressed by H. H. McCormick, Esq., and Thomas Ewing, Esq.

Republican Meeting in Westmoreland.

A Republican meeting was held in South Huntingdon township, adjoining the borough of West Newton, in Westmoreland county, on Friday evening last. The meeting was quite a large and enthusiastic one, the School House, in which the meeting was held, being crowded. Lieutenant Chayne was chosen chairman of the meeting. The meeting was addressed by S. P. Fulton and John S. Lambie, Esqrs., of this city, who discussed at considerable length the issues of the campaign. Both speakers took occasion to compliment old Westmoreland in being represented by such a sterling patriot as John Covode. At a late hour the meeting adjourned with three cheers for Grant, Colfax, Covode and the whole ticket.

Eleventh Ward Republican Nominations.

The Republicans of the Eleventh ward (old Seventh) held their primary elections on Saturday for members of Council, and ward officers, which resulted as follows:

Select Council—James M. McEwen, for two years; Charles A. Kehew, for one year; no opposition.

Common Council—(Three to be voted for;) Nelson P. Reed, 209; Wm. J. Moorhead, 209; Wm. C. McCarthy, 128; A. G. McCandless 128.

School Directors—(Two to be voted for;) William Mays, 100; James Shannon, 128; William Culp, 64; Henry P. Ford, 127; J. M. Hoch, 15; Martin Frederick, 26.

Judge of Election—John Wandless. No opposition.

Inspector—William B. Hays, Jr. No opposition.

Return Inspector—Robert King. No opposition.

Assessor—John R. Crawford. No opposition.

Constable—(One to be voted for)—H. N. Hoyt, 114; Thomas Murdock, 9; Samuel Hallman, 34; W. D. Jones, 35.

As will be seen by the above, there is a tie between Messrs. McCarthy and McCandless for Common Council, and another election will be held on Saturday next to nominate a candidate for that position.

Nominations in the Twentieth Ward.

The Republicans of the Twentieth ward, (formerly center of Liberty township) met on Saturday evening and placed in nomination the following ticket:

Select Council—A. H. Gross, 2 years; G. W. Hallman, 1 year.

Common Council—C. W. Batchelor, John Barton.

School Directors—Thos. Aiken, G. F. Ranhauser, J. R. Baum, S. B. McElroy, R. M. McClarren, W. G. Johnson.

Judge of Election—G. R. White.

Inspector—W. B. Negley, J. J. Lawson.

Return Inspectors—W. Fullwood, S. Lightner.

Assessor—David Aiken.

Assistant Assessors—J. R. Bonner, J. R. Liggett.

Alderman—Isaac J. McKinley.

Constable—Wm. Reynolds.

The Mass Convention—Grant and Tanner Clubs.

The Committee appointed to make arrangements for Grant and Tanner Clubs at the Grand Mass Convention to be held in this city on the 23d and 24th inst., met at City Hall and organized by calling Col. Joseph Browne to the chair.

On motion, Col. Browne was authorized to appoint a sufficient number of aids.

On motion of Mr. Ford, the Chairman was authorized to appoint a Committee of three to prepare invitations and distribute them to the various clubs throughout the State to participate in the demonstration.

The Chair appointed the following gentlemen on the Committee: W. R. Ford, James S. Patterson and Gen. Barnes, who retired, and after a brief absence reported the following, which was adopted:

"The Republican State Central Committee having ordered a Mass Convention on the 24th in order to render the same effective and to induce the Union masses of Western Pennsylvania to participate therein, it has been determined to have a grand torch-light procession on on the night of the 23d, also a demonstration on the 24th. The Committee of Arrangements extend an invitation to all Grant and Colfax Clubs, as well as Tanner Clubs and kindred organizations, to participate therein.

"You are earnestly requested to assist us in our endeavors by turning out upon this occasion, thus making the demonstration worthy of the great and glorious cause.

"The 'latch-string will be out,' and accommodations will be provided for all visiting organizations. To prevent confusion you are requested to send to the Chairman, Col. Joseph Browne, on or before the 22d inst., the number of your club likely to be in attendance.

"Address box 194, Pittsburgh."

On motion, the Committee adjourned to meet at City Hall, Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Fourth Ward, Pittsburgh, Grant Club.

The Grant and Colfax Club of the Fourth ward, Pittsburgh, received their new uniforms and equipments on Saturday, and in the evening made a parade through the different streets of the ward, headed by a brass brand. They presented a fine appearance with their drab capes, sailor caps and blazing torches. The uniform, which is not yet fully completed, is one of the most handsome that has yet been adopted. Their lamps are gotten up on a greatly improved plan, devised by Col. John D. Owens, a member of the club. They are entirely free from leakage and no matter in what position the torch is placed, it is always "right side up." The headquarters of the club, in the second story of the building at the northeast corner of Penn and St. Clair streets, are among the most handsomely fitted up in the county, and many additions and improvements are still being made to them. The club embraces in its membership many of the most active and prominent Republicans of the Fourth ward, and will no doubt be the means of accomplishing much good for the cause during the campaign.

Borough Election.

The citizens of the new borough of Ormsby, adjoining East Birmingham, and lately a portion of Lower St. Clair township, met on Friday evening last, and placed in nomination the following candidates for Burgess, Council, &c., to be voted for at the election, which will be held between the hours of one and six o'clock this afternoon:

FOR BURGESS—John B. Lutz and Charles McNulty.

THE PITTSBURGH COMMERCIAL has the largest circulation of any paper published in Pittsburgh, and goes extensively into all parts of Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and the adjacent country. As an advertising medium, therefore, it has no superior.

THE way to win is to address the understanding and conscience of the people. To this end sound reading should be circulated. It costs from fifty to a hundred dollars—frequently much more—to get up a meeting. A few hundred, at the most a few thousand, hear the speeches. But fifty times the number can have the reading of a dozen speeches for a small fraction of the expense. Our first campaign sheet will be ready in a few days, and will contain for two cents (by the hundred) what a dollar will not buy in book form.

THE Daily News, the Johnson organ of Philadelphia, virtually gives up the contest, and predicts the defeat of SEYMOUR, as the necessary consequence of the bad management of the Democratic leaders.

AMONG the speakers who will take part in the great mass meeting in Pittsburgh on Thursday, 24th inst., are General JOSEPH R. HAWLEY, of Connecticut, Governor JAMES POLLOCK, Colonel A. K. MCCLURE, General JOHN W. FORNEY and General J. T. OWENS. Others will be duly announced.

THE authenticity of the letter published as having been written by HORATIO to C. H. DOOLITTLE, of Connecticut, is admitted by the latter gentleman. If, at the date SEYMOUR penned it, he was on a "sea of trouble," what must be his situation now? No power on earth can save him from going to the bottom.

WE print two capital speeches—reported exclusively for the COMMERCIAL—in our columns this morning, delivered in City Hall, Saturday evening, by General KING and Judge BOND, of Maryland. Few more effective addresses have been made, any where, during the campaign. Both will go into our campaign sheet.

DEMOCRATIC orators have been coming back from Maine during the past week sick and downcast. The atmosphere there is bad for their constitutions. Some of them have come into Pennsylvania, where we fancy they will not improve their condition much. This is not a good year for Copperheads in the Keystone State. Kentucky is the place for them.

THE recent appointment of Revenue Supervisor for Western Pennsylvania caused considerable inquiry to be made as to who A. S. TYRON is. We learn he is a citizen of Reading, Berks county, and that he intends soon to take up his residence in this city, preparatory to entering upon the discharge of his official duties. Is Western Pennsylvania so poor in timber that we must import from Berks?

THE Democrats claim that Hon. THOMAS MELLON, Judge of the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny county, is working for the success of SEYMOUR and BLAIR, and will vote that ticket. There is not a word of truth in this statement, as the Judge intends to vote with the Republicans, as heretofore, and is a supporter of GRANT and COLFAX. Some people imagine that because Judge MELLON entertains peculiar views on the question of "negro equality," he must support SEYMOUR and BLAIR.

DEMOCRATS who feel like backing up their opinions as expressed in public can do so any day. A gentleman who has a few little hundreds, if desired, will make it thousands, authorizes us to offer the following bets: $250 that Pennsylvania will go for GRANT; $250 that Ohio will go for GRANT; $250 that Indiana will go for GRANT; and $500 against $250 that GRANT will be elected. Now, gentlemen, if you have any confidence please call at the COMMERCIAL Counting Room.

MR. A. T. STEWART, of New York, a "bloated bondholder," should be thankful to the gentleman who framed the fourth demand in the Democratic platform. [illegible]

THE FIRST BUSINESS ON HAND.

In his letter of acceptance General GRANT made this promise: "If elected to the office of President of the United States, it will be my endeavor to administer all the laws in good faith, with economy, and with the view of giving peace, quiet and protection everywhere." A promise of any kind made by General GRANT everybody knows is something to be relied on. He belongs to the order of men whose word is as good as their bond. There is not a business man, a mechanic or laborer, but knows that what this country needs and must have, before there can be prosperous times again, is stability; what can never be, however, till we have "Peace, quiet and protection everywhere." The words indicate the penetration of General GRANT. As we understand the public mind we hazard nothing in saying that, among business men in general, it is a settled conviction that the first business to be done is to get GRANT elected and in this way stability, without which business will not be worth doing. Never before has a political canvass taken on this look to anything like an equal extent. A gentleman whose experience and opportunities qualify him to judge, gives it as his opinion that should there not be another meeting held by the supporters of GRANT, or anything more done by politicians, the people—the business classes more especially—would finish up the campaign, and the result would be just the same. The strong look which the canvass wears at the present moment leaves no doubt that business men of all parties are preparing to go for GRANT in a body, in the conviction that his election is the first and most important business to be done.

IN the course of another month the Democracy of Arkansas will experience no difficulty in counting the vote of that State, so that the entire State will be a Democratic unit. The manner in which this result will be reached is extremely simple. All persons suspected of entertaining Republican sentiments are marked for assassination. Either that, or the option is left them to leave the country, so long as any refuse to look at the matter in this "optional light," they will be shot down in their tracks. A correspondent, alluding to the condition of affairs in the State, says:

THE CAMPAIGN.

MASS MEETING AT CITY HALL.

Speeches of Judge Bond and Gen. King, of Maryland.

THE REAL ISSUES OF THE CAMPAIGN.

Who Shall Govern—Rebels or Union Men?

Discussion of the Bond Question.

Views of the Border State People.

A grand mass meeting of the Republicans of Allegheny county was held at City Hall, on Saturday evening. It was intended to hold the meeting in front of Hare's Hotel, at the foot of Fifth avenue, but about the time announced for the opening of the meeting—half past seven o'clock—a heavy rain set in, which continued for half an hour, and the meeting was adjourned to City Hall. The announcement that two of Maryland's most loyal and gifted sons—Judge Bond and General King—were to address the meeting, attracted to City Hall one of the largest and most enthusiastic meetings of the campaign, considering the inclemency of the weather. The seats in the spacious hall were all occupied, and many were compelled to stand.

The Fourth Ward, Allegheny, Minute Men, to the number of one hundred and three, under command of Captain A. P. Callow and Lieuts. Stier and Clark, arrived at the Hall about half-past eight o'clock, preceded by a band. They presented an excellent appearance, being uniformed with caps and capes and bearing torches. They also carried a banner, displaying appropriate mottoes.

A brass band was in attendance and discoursed patriotic music. The great campaign singer, Prof. J. W. Pope, was also present and sang a number of his campaign songs in his usual excellent manner.

THE ORGANIZATION.

The meeting was called to order about eight o'clock by Col. Wm. A. Herron, upon whose motion the following officers were elected to preside:

President—James McAuley, Esq.

VICE PRESIDENTS.

[illegible]

Secretaries—Members of the Republican press.

REMARKS OF MR. M'AULEY.

Mr. McAuley, on taking the chair, said he was deeply sensible of the honor conferred in being asked to preside over the meeting, but would not detain them with a speech, as there were two loyal Baltimoreans present, who would address them. He would introduce, as the first speaker, Judge Bond, of Maryland.

Judge Bond then advanced to the front of the platform, and was greeted with loud cheers. He spoke as follows:

SPEECH OF JUDGE BOND.

"We have been with you as we were,
We are with you as we are,
And we'll go hand in hand with you to the end."

and became "condition Union" and "conservative." Her grandfather told her to stick to that as that was as near nothing as she would get. [Laughter.]

After I told this man this story, said he, "Are you a Radical?" "Yes," said I, "I am radical because, as a certain speaker said, he liked a Radical because he was a man that had a word to him." [Laughter.]

Said he, "Are you radical Republican or Democrat?" I replied the former.

"Eating and sleeping?" said he. Said I, "Looking at you, if it was put to me whether I would sleep with a good looking negro or you, I think I would take the negro." [Laughter and cheers.]

That ended the controversy. These men will gain a thousand votes, if they can, by exciting this unreasonable prejudice, which has nothing in it, about negro equality.

THE GREAT ISSUE.

If the Democracy with its avowed intention of re-constructing your reconstructed States succeed, it will be too late then to discuss these questions. It will be too late then to talk about bonds and greenbacks. It will not be a question about bonds, but whether we shall pay them at all. It is our duty in this campaign to labor faithfully to elect our own candidates and establish the Republican party permanently, and your greenbacks will become as good as gold, and then it will make no difference to the bond-holders whether they are paid in gold or currency. [Loud cheers.]

We devised a remedy for a class of people whom we had in Maryland. When we found a man who did not appear to have decided views in our party, we appointed a committee, one of whom would shout in his hearing "Abolitionist," then if he stood that "Black Republican," if he stood that "Nigger lover" was sounded in his ears, and if he stood that he was considered as a man of sound principles.

My fellow citizens, what we want is peace. General Grant says let us have peace. There is but one way to have peace and that is not to have the President and Congress at war with each other, as they are now, but to establish one in unison with the other to carry out the laws, that the loyal people have said shall be made. [Applause.]

I called on Mr. Lincoln once when I wanted to him in order to get an officer, who was not right for the position he held in our State, removed. He asked me if we could not get along with that man easily. I said "No, take him away, we cannot keep the peace." He sent over for Mr. Stanton and said, "Bond and our friend here cannot keep the peace." Said Mr. Stanton, "What is to be done?" "Well," replied Mr. Lincoln, "I can get rid of the General very easily but I cannot get rid of Bond; you better send the officer away." [Laughter.] The people can get rid of Andy Johnson, but they cannot get rid of the Senate of the United States, and so they better send Andy away.

What we want is peace, and without Grant we cannot have it. We want men who defend the government—defraud it of its treasure and its liberties put out of office and honest men put in their places. We have a vast number of revenue officers, and others who are cheating the government, and it is necessary that there should be a change among government officials appointed by the President. Our candidate is qualified for the necessities of the hour. He discriminated wisely and well in his choice of men to put down the rebellion, and the rebellion would never have been put down if he had not the liberty of chosing his own generals. [Cheers.]

We had the right to think, my fellow-citizens, that after all the blood and treasure that we have expended, after the long war which it took to put down the rebellion, and after we had swept it away, we had the right to expect these gentlemen would come in and maintain [illegible] ply this people have purged themselves of the sentiments of the rebellion by a surrender. Not at all. An enforced acquiescence in inevitable necessity does not by any means remove from a man the consequences of his crime, and because these Southern people gave up when they had to it does not follow that the giving up made them loyal citizens again. But the Democrats may say again, "we admit that while the war was going on, you had to construe things in this way, and to exercise your war powers over the people. But when the war power ceased, your power ceased." My friends, the war has not ceased. The war drum throbs no longer, and the battle flags are furled. But the war in the hearts of these people exist just as fully to-day as it did when they had an army of soldiers. They have the same disposition to assault us to-day as they had in 1861. But they have not got the tools. Now the tools that the Democrats want to give them are ballots instead of bullets. The Republican party said they shall not have them. But they did say that the people who had proved their loyalty by a thousand acts of devotion and who had shown themselves true to the old flag, should have some say in the reconstruction of the Southern States.

Now here arises the great howl of the Democracy—"you take away the rights of the white people, and you give rights to the blacks." My friends, the Republican party did not give the black man the ballot because he was black, but because he was a loyal man. There were also a few loyal white people in the South; to them, in connection with the black loyalists, was entrusted the power to act upon the measures submitted to them for the reconstruction of the Union. They have nobly justified the confidence of the Republican party, and have shown that they appreciate the privileges conferred upon them by nobly trampling under foot all that was unjust and wrong in those States, by bringing them back into the Union under constitutions which will render disloyalty impossible in the future if they are maintained, and they surely will be if we continue in power.

THE VOTERS OF THE SOUTH.

Now there are six hundred and seventy-nine thousand registered black voters in the South, and about six hundred and forty-three thousand whites. This is an excess of about thirty-six thousand blacks, but there are still two hundred and fifty thousand whites who are not registered, but can be if they choose to be registered. When these are registered, the whites will be in a clear majority in the South. There will only be about sixty thousand of the worst rebels disfranchised; yet with such a statement as this, the rebels talk about placing the black man over the white man in the South, and say the Republican party wants to establish "negro supremacy." My friends, to make a long story short, it is perfectly absurd. If the whites in the South, in the majority as they are, allow the black people to demonstrate such a capacity for politics, that they will be able to rule them, all I have got to say is so much more glory to the black, so much more shame to the white. [Cheers.]

But they tell you we have given the negro the ballot and are making him our social equal. My friends, there never was a more ridiculous statement than that made. The whole thing of social equality is a matter of personal taste. It is a matter which every man regulates in his own home and his own family. If I take a man who is placed with me in the same sphere of life, I will take him to my heart and make him my equal; but if I do not like him, he cannot occupy that position.

Every man who votes for General Grant this campaign will not be the equal, perhaps, of you who hear me to-night. At the polls in the eyes of the law, he is justly your equal; but in the affairs of ordinary life his equality will depend entirely upon yourselves. It is just so with the people of the Southern States; whether or not they come to associate upon terms of equality with blacks, will just depend upon themselves. If they like them they will do it; if they do not like them, there is no law or power that can compel them to do it or that wants them to do it.

Now, from this statement, I ask you as fair minded Democrats, Republicans and all whether it is fair to charge the Republican party with violation of law, and that therein we desire to break down the distinctions of race which Providence has wisely appointed in this world. We see every day that these distinctions exist, and we are told by Holy Writ that in the eyes of God one man is just as good as another. His law recognizes no distinctions when it comes to a matter of right and justice. The laws passed by the Republican party recognize no distinctions in matters of right. They obey the Divine command:

"Thou shalt have but one law, unto the stranger and unto thine own people."

If there is any truer Democracy than this I do not know where to find it. So much for reconstruction. And here let me say that reconstruction under our policy is an accomplished fact, and that it will stand, every rebel and every Northern sympathizer with rebels to the contrary notwithstanding. [Cheers.]

THE NEW YORK CONVENTION.

But, say the Democratic party, speaking through their Convention at New York we will annul all that; we cannot stand it—we are going to call upon the President to take an army and disperse the carpet baggers of the South. I ask you to consider who those men are that make this declaration, who pronounce upon the wisdom of these laws, declare them null and void and propose to make that declaration a stern reality. It is the same old fight on the same old line. There behind the crumbling battlements of error and wrong, are the same old lines of rebel gray led by the same old leaders. But here on this side is the old line of blue going in to the music of the Union at the beck and call of Ulysses Grant. [Prolonged cheers.]

Who are the men who talk about the trampling the laws under foot. There was the high toned, and patriotic (?) Vallandigham, who rendered such valuable service through the North during the war. There was the amiable Beauregard, who proposed to execute Northern prisoners by the garrote. There was the chivalrous and benignant Forrest, who butchered his prisoners in cold blood. There was the refined and courtly gentleman (?) Wade Hampton, whose noble soul revolted at the idea of association with poor laborers, and who desires the gentlemen of the country to be its rulers. There was every Northern copperhead that deny the war, sneered at our efforts to suppress the rebellion, who never sympathized with us in the hour of defeat, and never rejoiced with us in the hour of victory. There was the same element that while you people of Pennsylvania yet thrilled with the news of the victory of Gettysburg, made the streets of New York run red with innocent blood and necessitated the recall of a part of our own victorious armies to keep them quiet. There was the "rag-tag and bob-tail" [Laughter] of the Southern and Northern Democracy—"Tray," Blanch and Sweet Heart, and that vile pack of "curs" that howled at our heels during the war. [Renewed Laughter.] They were all there to join in praise of this New Democracy, which is to reflect such glory upon the country, and which asks you loyal people to surrender into its hands the immense armies, the archives of the Government and its destiny. Do you propose to allow these men to dictate to you? [Voices, "No, no," and cheers.]

I warn you that there is more in their schemes than appears upon the surface, for I live in a rebel cursed State where I have an opportunity to know something of the intentions and theories of those people. They want to get control of this Government, and to do it they would just as leave plunge into another war as not. My friends, do you want another war, and have you not had enough of it? Have not your fields been desolated enough? Have not we lost enough to forever set at rest those unholy cravings after more strife? These men ask you to give up the precious memories of the past. They mean what they say.

The people of the North are a patient, enduring people, but they will not stand everything, and if these men ever dare to come forward and lay their hands upon the temple of this nation's honor, I tell you you will find the men who followed our flag from the Potomac to the Rio Grande are not all dead yet. [Cheers.] If these gentlemen desire a fight they can get one up to order on exceedingly short notice. But beware what you do, because if you do precipitate this country into another civil war it will be terrible. It will be war to the knife and the knife to the hilt in the heart of every traitor. [Applause.]

Frank Blair says this is all that gives dignity to the struggle. Let him beware lest in bringing about this very dignified struggle he may be obliged to beat a very undignified retreat. [Laughter and cheers.]

THE FINANCIAL QUESTION.

I notice in this morning's Post a circular issued by Mr. Wallace, which is a cunning appeal to the people, claiming that the Republican party has been wasting the treasury of the country, and asking the people to take the government out of their hands on that account. Mr. Wallace and these gentlemen say that since the close of the war the public debt has been increased. They take the report of the Secretary of the Treasury made in the month of March, 1865.

At that time the debt of the country was not fully audited. A vast amount of money was due the soldiers and the sailors of the Republic, so that the report of March, 1865, does not fully present the liabilities of the government, so that the proper time from which to date the full cost of the war was August 1st, 1865, for the government knew then where it stood and how much money it owed on account of the war. For the 1st of August, 1865, the debt of the land was twenty-seven hundred and fifty-seven millions of dollars. Since that time the debt has been reduced over two hundred and forty millions of dollars. They say that taxation has been increased; on the contrary taxation has been reduced one hundred and sixty-seven millions of dollars, by the removal of taxation from over ten thousand different articles of manufacture, so that now the revenue of the Government is derived from customs and taxation upon articles of luxury, so that with few unimportant exceptions no articles of industry are subjected to any depressing tax. The revenue of the Government last year was four hundred and six millions of dollars, and the payment of the common expenses, which were very large, because of the cancelling of many floating obligations, the cost of the Indian war, large payments in the form of bounties and the interest on the debt. The surplus was thirty-four millions of dollars. So you can observe that instead of running behind hand, Uncle Sam came out more than square last year.

THE EXPENSES OF THE REPUBLICAN AND DEMOCRATIC PARTIES COMPARED.

Now, then, Democrats charge that the Republican party expends more money than any party that has ever controlled the government. My friends, figures won't lie, if Democrats do. [Laughter.] Let us see whether or not they will bear the Republican party out in its declarations that it can administer this government with unsurpassed economy and prudence.

The estimates for the current fiscal year over and above the interest on the debt amounts to one hundred and seven millions of dollars in round numbers. From this there should be deducted, four millions, for internal improvements which add to the permanent wealth of the country, and will all be returned at some future day. This will leave one hundred and three millions of dollars to represent the expenses of the government in all its branches—the War and Navy Departments and the Consular and Diplomatic services; the Postoffice, the Interior Department; the Legislative, and all the multifarious branches of the public service, are to be paid for from this fund. In addition to that is the cost of closing out the Freedmen's Bureau and the completing of the payment of the bill of reconstruction. Let us itemize these accounts.

Ten years ago, when this country numbered nine millions less than it does now, when the number of its employees was vastly inferior to what it is now; when the cost of living and of all the necessaries of life was one-half less than now; in short, when everything was on a gold basis, Mr. Buchanan expended for this country eighty millions of dollars in gold, equal to one hundred and twelve millions in currency, counting gold at 140. We were then at profound peace with all the world, and owed no man a dollar; had no extravagant expenses and had unbounded credit.

Our army then numbered but nineteen regiments. The army then cost twenty millions of dollars in gold, an average of over one million of dollars for each regiment, or fourteen hundred thousand dollars in paper.

Our postoffices and post-roads were then much fewer than they are now. The postoffices cost nearly five millions of dollars in gold.

The number of employees in the Consular and Diplomatic services of the Government was not so great as at present, but yet we see that in the last year of Mr. Buchanan's administration he expended more money than the Republicans propose to expend this year. To prove this: He paid for the Consular services of that year forty-five million seven hundred and ninety-six thousand dollars. That was about the average of all his administration. The Republicans notwithstanding the efforts of Mr. Johnson to thwart them in their selection of representatives abroad, have expended an average of four millions of dollars a year less than the sum before named. The Republicans have never expended over two millions a year on the postoffices. Mr. Buchanan expended five millions.

We have now sixty regiments in our army. They will cost us thirty-three millions of dollars in paper, an average of less than six hundred thousand dollars per regiment. The Freedman's Bureau is alleged to have cost hundreds of millions, but it will appear from the official report of the Treasury Department to have cost from its beginning to this time, but five millions six hundred and seventeen thousand dollars. Of this amount nearly one-third has gone to the destitute whites of the South. The reconstruction measures of Congress which are alleged to have cost hundreds of millions of dollars, appear from Mr. McCulloch's official statement to have cost up to this time but two millions three hundred and forty-four thousand dollars; a less sum than the Democratic party expend per year in governing the one city of New York.

When we reflect that with this small expenditure our party has given peace, government, law, order and security, and permanence and prosperity to eleven great States, may we not say never has so much been done with so little money! Now if these facts be doubted, the incredulous Democrat can satisfy himself of their correctness by inquiring from the Treasury Department at Washington.

I have said enough to show that the charges of extravagance, mismanagement and corruption so loudly preferred against the Republican party are without foundation in fact and that a careful consideration of the management of its finances will show a regard for economy and a practical ability to run the machinery of government which entitles our party to the admiration, gratitude and confidence of all who love economy and prudence and honesty.

THE BOND QUESTION.

Now let us look a little at the question of government bonds. I have read Mr. Pendleton's theories on this subject with great attention. I am able to perceive in them nothing but an ingenious combination of figures, a skillful perversion of truth and a cunning appeal to the worst passions of the people. His whole summing up of the question of our finances reminds me very much of the process we boys resorted to at school when we could not exactly get the answer to an example. By making a seven out of nine or a six out of a four, or a two out of a five, we would sometimes be able to get such o result as we wanted. But we called that forced an answer.

Mr. Pendleton has forced the answer to this question of finances. I intend to discard for a moment the question of right or honor in the payment of these bonds, and consider it from a selfish stand point. I propose to show that the poor people of this country are the persons interested in the payment of these bonds when they become due, in that kind of money which is recognized the world over as currency—gold and silver. To prove this let us look at the parties that hold these bonds, and who it is that is interested in the mode of their payment.

The Savings Banks in the country have about three hundred millions of Government bonds to secure their depositors. In the two States of New York and Massachusetts there are seventy-four millions held by the Savings Banks. From the last reports it appears that the number of depositors in these two States is eight hundred and four thousand five hundred and one persons. Divide the number of depositors and the amount of bonds held to secure them and you will have an average of about ninety dollars to each man. In other words, thousands of poor people of these States have, by frugality and honest toil, saved up about ninety dollars apiece, which they have deposited in the Saving Bank, and that ninety dollars is secured to them by investment in a Government bond, so that nearly one-sixth of the interest-bearing debt of this county represents the hard earned savings of the prudent poor man.

The fire, marine and life insurance companies of the country hold about three hundred and seventy millions of dollars in bonds. The various interests represented by these companies are incalculable, but the single interest of life insurance is one which we can readily appreciate. The life insurance companies represented in New York are said to hold sixty-six millions of dollars in Government bonds. Now then the class of people who insure their lives are those who have no heritage to transmit to their children, and who, by saving a little year after year, pay a premium to the insurance company and can die with the assurance that they leave their wives and children with enough to keep the wolf from the door and to secure them from the pangs of poverty. This class of people is very large in our country. Poor clergymen, clerks, lawyers, physicians, men of all trades and occupations, endeavor in this way to provide for the helpless ones they have to leave behind them. Now can you call such people as these "bloated bondholders," and can you consent to a policy which will interfere with their interests?

The National Banks in this county hold almost three hundred and forty millions of Government bonds. Now did any here ever live in a town where a bank broke? If he did he will remember the financial distress which followed it. Suppose all the banks in America would close to-morrow. No tongue could speak, no pencil could describe the financial distress which would follow upon the land. The great works of industry would cease, trade would be paralyzed, gaunt famine would stalk at the doors of the poor, and we would hear again the cry of distress. Yet this is just what would happen if the Government securities, which are the life-blood of these banks, become so vitiated as to no longer give them vitality. The Democratic party will tell you that only the rich banker would suffer, but my friends the war of labor against capital is like the Southern rebellion. "It is the rich man's war and the poor man's fight."

Let the banks of the city of Pittsburgh be unable to continue their business, and within thirty days there would not be a rolling mill or a loom, or a forge, or a workshop in operation. The rich man who has other property besides that invested in bank stocks, could manage to live, but the poor operative whose wages are dependent upon the business prosperity of his employer would starve. This is no overdrawn picture. Its like has been seen in other countries, and will be seen in this country if the Democratic party succeeds in its threatened degradation of the public credit, and the consequent breaking up of business confidence and the paralyzation of trade and business.

A WORD TO THE GERMANS.

Again nearly seven hundred millions of this Government debt is held in Germany. The people of Germany believed in this country; they believed that it could and that it ought to be preserved, and in its hour of trial they came forward with willing faith and loaned us money to prosecute the war for the Union. Can we properly say to those people your faith was misplaced; we now propose to pay you the amount you loaned us in money which will not pass current in Germany, and that is as worthless to you as the rags in the gutter. Yet, this is just what the Democratic party asks us to say. And I call the attention of the German fellow-citizens and of the Germans of Pennsylvania of all parties, to the fact that the non-redemption of our debt in coin will be a fatal thrust at the very vitals of the Fatherland. [Cheers.]

My German fellow citizens I want you to remember this and the next time you write to your old friends and relatives in Germany tell them there is a party striving to carry out this policy, and my word for it when they read it they will answer, "Mine Got in Heaven, don't vote for them fellows." [Laughter and prolonged cheering.] Can you write home to your old friends in Germany, to your fathers there, that this Nation has attempted to be a Nation of scoundrels. That the money they loaned us is never going to be paid, except in a currency which will be valuless to them? If you cannot do this, why then consider whether it is right to vote for a party that deliberately declares its intention to bring it about?

Now then to enumerate the various amounts just given. There are probably two hundred millions of dollars left in the country, which is in the hands of well-to-do people, or as the Democrats call them, "bloated bondholders." There are perhaps a few people of this class who deserve to suffer, but the great majority of the people holding these two or three hundred millions of bonds are those who, in our hour of travail, nobly, patriotically and cheerfully came forward to help us out of the scrape into which the Democratic rebellion had thrown us.

I know one old man, who by a life of toil had saved about twenty thousand dollars. When the war broke out he had it invested in property, the interest of which yielded him fourteen per cent. "Well," said he, "the Government is in need of money. It cannot carry on the war and save the country without it, and if the country is broken up I do not want to live any how. And I will take the savings of my life and lend it to the Government. I believe if they get us through the war triumphant they will pay their honest debts—they can have my money any how."

Now are you going to call that man a "bloated bondholder?" [Great Cheers.] Are you going to say to that old man when he brings up his bonds for payment here is another promise, We will give you those payable at some future day. They are not worth much but they are good enough for you?

Now my friends, this is no overstretch of imagination. There are thousands of people in this country just as patriotic as that old man, and it is this class of people that the Democratic party ask you to break faith with.

But says Mr. Pendleton, "there is no repudiation in giving a man a note for his bond." Let us look at that a moment. Suppose a few years hence one of you go down to Washington with your hundred dollar five-twenty bond, you walk into the Treasury Department and say, "I want the money for this."

The Secretary says "all right" and hands you out a hundred dollar bill.

You look at it and say, "Mr. Secretary this is not what I want. When I loaned the Government this money, all the agents of the Government, all the members of Congress and everybody else said it should be paid in gold. I want gold."

But says the Secretary, "Don't you know the Democratic party decided you could not have gold."

You say to him, "Mr. Secretary, promise is not performance. I bring you a promise to pay and the time has come to redeem that promise. Instead of paying me, you give me another promise to pay."

"Well," says the Secretary, "that is the best I can do for you. It is all the Democratic party will let me do."

Well now you say, "Mr. Secretary suppose you sell me a ton of iron, and I give you my note at ninety days, and when the time is up you call on me to pay that note, and I sit down and write you another note at ninety days and hand it to you. Will you consider that I have paid you?"

"Certainly not," the Secretary would say.

But you would reply, "That is just what you are doing with me. You are giving me another promise."

Well he would say, "That is a different matter. Nations and individuals should keep their promises differently."

You would say to him, "No, Mr. Secretary, what is honorable in a nation is honorable in a man, and what is mean in a nation is mean in a man. You cannot establish two codes of honesty in that way. What is sauce for the goose, is sauce for the gander the world over." [Laughter.]

Now, my friends, this in brief, is a fair statement of the bond question, etc. Appeal to any right-minded man here who has seen the class of people represented by these bonds, who has seen the practical consequences which will follow upon their depreciation, who has seen how the government creditors will be treated when he calls upon the country to redeem its promises, to say whether or not the Republican party is right in declaring that the Government shall keep the letter and spirit of its contract with the people who gave it the means to carry on the war. The true policy is to enhance our credit, so that we can get money at a low rate of interest; not to depreciate our credit so that nobody will trust us. Already we see the effect of the opinions of the Democratic party. When their convention met in New York gold was only about $1.40. It is now $1.45. So every man in the United States that earned twenty dollars this last week and went this Saturday afternoon to get his pay, instead of carrying away twenty dollars carried away but nineteen dollars, and for every twenty dollars' worth of money in this country there is a loss of one dollar. Simply because the Democratic party has seen fit to strike at the credit of the country. The true policy with reference to this whole national indebtedness was declared by Governor Hawley, the Chairman of the Chicago Convention, when he said that the payment which the civilized world recognized as a full and final payment is the only payment which the Union party of this country will ever consent to tender.

THE SOLDIERS' CONVENTION.

My friends, that is the whole of the bond question. I have endeavored to lay before you a little of the past and present of the Republican party. I call upon you now, well meaning citizens, upon men of all shades of political opinions, to follow the example you saw presented in this Hall on Thursday night. [Applause.] When you saw Democratic soldiers of the Union, led by the gallant soldier, General Sweitzer [tremendous cheers], come up here and renounce the idols of the past. You saw him come here and say he did not take a hand in this game because he knew the dealer had marked the cards. [Applause.] I tell you I hope and believe thousands will follow the example of these soldiers and of this city. Upon the one hand you have a party pledged to keep the law; on the other hand you have a party pledged to undo it; on the one hand you have a party pledged to keep the national fait; on the other hand you have a party pledged to repudiate it; on the one hand a soldier who has gallantly and nobly served the country. [Applause.]

"We know him as a man
Who never sells the truth
To serve the hour,
Or barters with the eternal God for power."
[Cheers.]

The world knows him as the greatest Captain of the country—great as the greatest only are, in simplicity sublime. His associate is equally deserving of your confidence.

On the other hand, you have Mr. Seymour and Mr. Blair, whose records do not entitle them to your confidence. The Democratic candidate for the Presidency is a man who, when the smoke of victory yet curled above the crests of Gettysburg, obliged us to send back troops from the army to take care of him.

The Blairs belonged to a party that have had a finger in every political pie ever cooked in this country for years, and have spoiled every one they ever undertook to bake. [Laughter.]

Awhile ago I was down in Virginia, and passed one of the well trodden fields in that State I came to a Cemetery. In that lonely Virginia Cemetery lay two thousand children of the Republic. Men of all sections laid there, slumbering side by side where they fell at the hands of malignant rebels; they sleep in safety. As I contemplated the scene I thought of what was going on in the country, and I almost believed if any man could have whispered over the graves of these men what was being done in the country, that these men would have risen from their tombs and protested against the giving over of the Government to the hands of the men who put them in those bloody graves. See to it, men of Pennsylvania, that you do not do this. Cherish faithfully the memory of the buried soldiers of the Republic. [Loud cheers.]

THE CONCLUSION.

I have read that when the mighty Emperor of the Western Empire died they clothed him in imperial purple, bedecked him with jewels, bathed him with the sweetest perfume, placed the sceptre in his lifeless hand and set him upon his throne, and each day long processions of courtiers filed through his marble halls, bending low, and paid obeisance to the dead man. In his name orders were issued; at the beck and call of his lifeless hand great armies moved and great schemes were inaugurated. But this farce could not continue long; death and corruption asserted their sway. Not all the spices of Arabia, not all the appliances of the toilet could hide the disgusting ravages of decomposition. So they seized the loathsome corpse, stripped it of the insigna of royalty, and tore it from the imperial couch and buried it out of sight.

My friends, the Democracy of America is dead. All that is good and noble and life-like about it perished long ago. Its managers have dressed it in the purple and fine linen of honeyed phrases and fine promises. But the odor of corruption is upon it; through the flimsy vail that covers it the people of America discover the hand of death. They mean to drag it from the seat of power to which these men seek to elevate it.

See to it then, men of Pennsylvania, that by your votes you dig its grave wide and deep in October, and my word for it in November the American people will heap the earth so high above its loathsome corpse, that it shall know no resurrection. [Prolonged Cheers.]

With this accomplished, our government placed in the hands of the wise, just and firm soldier who gave us peace through war, we can indeed say that this land, sanctified by suffering, purified by trial, can commence its majestic march to universal dominion. The land of Washington, undivided and unbroken, shall be your land and the land of your children's children forever.

"Crowned with our constellated stars,
We'll stand beside the flowing sea,
And from the future with a victor's hand
Claim empire for the free."

Gen. King closed his speech amid the greatest enthusiasm.

A RESOLUTION OF THANKS.

Wm. Riddle, Esq., then offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the thanks of the Republicans of Allegheny county are hereby returned to the two loyal, true, Union Marylanders, Judge Bond and General King.

A SONG BY PROF. POPE.

Pope, the campaign singer, then sang a new song to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne," closing with "Let them take their beer (bier) and we will take our Sweitzer."

The meeting then adjourned with cheers for the ticket and speakers.

The Minute Men—Remarks by General Sweitzer.

At the close of the meeting, the Allegheny Minute Men adjourned to the west side of the Diamond, where they formed in line and went through the drill. Gen. J. Bowman Sweitzer being observed in the crowd of spectators, was waited upon by Capt. Callow, and upon his appearance before the company was greeted with three rousing cheers. The General was called upon for a speech, and in response made a few remarks.

He congratulated the company on their good turn out, and said that he never saw a finer body of men in or outside of the army. He understood that their company was fast increasing in numbers, and had more men than could then be equipped, and he hoped the good work would go "bravely on." In conclusion, he urged the importance of thorough organization and hoped they would give a good account of themselves both in October and November. General Sweitzer, at the close of his remarks, was again greeted with three hearty cheers, which were followed with three more for General Grant. The company then formed in line, and headed by their band, marched through the different streets of the city to their headquarters in Allegheny. This company has none in its ranks but qualified voters.

The Celebrated Walter Grape.

After twenty-five years experience with the present tender and late varieties we now the Walter, now first offered, will restore confidence in Grape raising. It never rots. Its abundant sugar raising it in-doors or on the vine; it is a great grower and bearer, and now contains 146 clusters of bloom; is very compact in cluster at the East, which is in advantage in marketing. We have not known the foliage to mildew. It succeeds in dry and very wet soil. Is a seedling of the Delaware, crossed with the Diana, and better than either. Ripens before the Hartford, therefore, the earliest, hardiest and best variety. No. 1, one year, $5 each, in advance. Orders filled in rotation, while supply lasts. No charge for packing. Send stamp for beautiful cut and opinions of many vineyards.

This Company, National in its character, offers, by reason of its Large Capital, Low Rates of Premium and New Tables, the most desirable means of insuring life yet presented to the public.

The rates of premium, being largely reduced, are made as favorable to the insurers as those of the best Mutual Companies, and avoid all the complications and uncertainties of Notes, Dividends and the misunderstandings which the latter are so apt to cause the Policy-Holders.

Several new and attractive tables are now presented which need only to be understood to prove acceptable to the public, such as the INCOME-PRODUCING POLICY and RETURN PREMIUM POLICY. In the former, the policy-holder not only secures a Life Insurance, payable at death, but will receive, if living, after a period of a few years, an annual income equal to ten per cent. (10 per cent.) of the par of his policy. In the latter, the Company agrees to return to the assured the total amount of money he has paid in, in addition to the amount of his policy.

The attention of persons contemplating insuring their lives or increasing the amount of insurance they already have, is called to the special advantages offered by the National Life Insurance Company.

Circulars, Pamphlets and full particulars given on application to the Branch Office of the Company in Philadelphia, or to its General Agents.

LOCAL AGENTS ARE WANTED in every City and Town; and applications from competent parties for such agencies, with suitable indorsement, should be addressed TO THE COMPANY'S GENERAL AGENTS ONLY, in their respective districts.

GET A GOOD SAW.

And Your Mill will do Good Work

Our Saws are Oil Tempered, Patent Ground, made to Run well.

You will find each Saw of one Temper and no Hard and Soft Spots in the same Saw.

We accomplish this by our Patent Tempering Process, and you can not get this from any other Saw Maker, as we own the Patents for the United States.

We do not claim to make a cheaper Saw than any one else, but one that will run at the word go, and will give no trouble, and will keep round longer; because being uniform with Temper, it will not wear on one side faster than the other.

We invite correspondence, or an interview with the practical man of your firm.

LIGHTNING APPLE PARERS—I HAVE just received a large stock of the above Parers. They have been fully tested for the last three years, and have proved themselves to be the best ever invented. They pare faster, better, and do their work much cleaner than any other Apple Parers known. For sale Wholesale and Retail by
